HEALTH AND BEAUTY

FOR YOUTHFUL AND HEALTHY SKIN

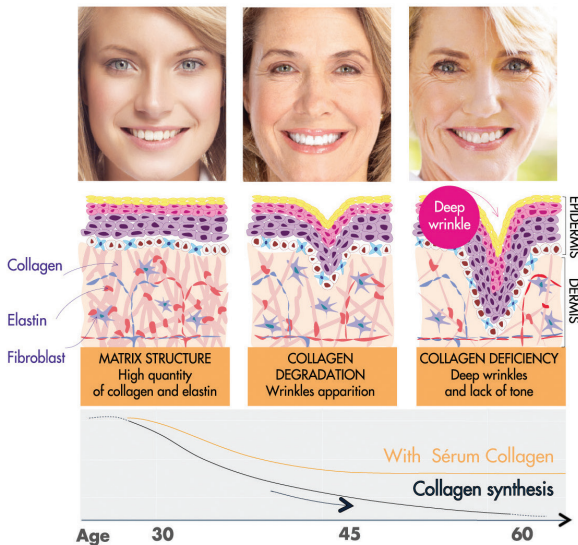

A FACT...A SOLUTION

Collagen fibers account for 30% of body proteins, and more specifically for 90% of skin proteins (dermis). The collagen matrix therefore represents a true support for our body architecture.

In the process of aging, the combined actions of free radicals, chemicals, toxins and protein glycation (AGE) unfortunately contribute to the degradation of the collagen matrix. This phenomenon causes the alteration of mechanical and physiological properties of tissues, including our skin. Additionally, we also can notice, over the years, a lower efficiency in collagen repair mechanisms. All these factors will lead to a loss of firmness and elasticity of the skin tissue, hence the appearance of well-known and visible signs: collapse of the skin, wrinkles, "orange skin", moisture loss, flaccidity.

Drawing from numerous clinical and laboratory studies having demonstrated the benefits of collagen peptides in the repair and regeneration of skin tissue, the team at Medelys Laboratories International Inc. has devoted every effort to formulate a brand new product that helps improve the appearance of the epidermis.
